

Fitness - August 23, 2004

Only you can take ultimate responsibility for your health. Even with an arsenal of information and support, you still have to physically get up and engage in exercise regularly. You must muster up the drive to engage in exercise often. If you do take responsibility for your fitness, the results will be guaranteed.