

Fitness - June 7, 2004

Exercise for weight loss and maintenance. Not only will exercise contribute to your weight loss efforts by speeding up your metabolism and burning fat, but it is the number one factor in maintaining weight loss once your goal weight has been achieved. So when you reach your goal weight, it's more important than ever to continue your regular exercise routine.