

Fitness - Nov 22, 2004

Strength training is proven to improve athletic ability. Golfers, for example, significantly increase their driving power and runners have more stamina. Whatever your sport of choice, strength training will not only improve your proficiency but also decrease your risk of injury.