

Health and Diet - Nov 29, 2004

If you suffer from heartburn, there are some foods to avoid. Foods themselves don't necessarily cause heartburn, but they can aggravate the condition by stimulating acid production. Avoid citrus fruits and high fat or seasoned foods. Antacids can help this uncomfortable feeling. Consult your doctor about the best type for you.